

Congratulations

JIM ANDERSON

MWCEA's own Jim Anderson has been honored with the 2021 workcompcentral's Magna Comp Laude® award! Comp Laude® is an annual event created by Dave DePaolo, founder of workcompcentral, to recognize top achievers in the workers' compensation industry. We agree that Jim is more than deserving of this prestigious recognition. Kudos, Jim!

“It is indeed an honor to receive this recognition in my 50th year of serving in the workers’ compensation industry. A part of the consideration for the award is based on what we have been able to do with the MWCEA, and I want to thank each of you for the parts you have played in those successes,” states Anderson.

Comp Laude® recognizes people from all sectors of the workers compensation industry, and the awards have been given since 2014. Awards are given to people who have achieved beyond the expected results in categories such as injured worker, claimant's attorney, defense attorney, medical professional, industry leader, employer, service provider, claims professional and philanthropic efforts. Two nominees are singled out annually for Magna Comp Laude and Summa Comp Laude, and it is a tremendous honor to be recognized in this fashion. The Summa Comp Laude recipient this year is Rosemary McKenzie-Ferguson, an Australian injured worker who founded Craig's Table, an organization that provides training and community engagement for injured workers in Australia.
